

Drugs are horrendous. Cool in the moment, regretted for a life time. Now that I've reaped my reward, a nice cold prison cell, I intend to warn all my friends to leave the damned drugs. Stay away from them. After constant abuse of drugs I ~~became~~ become paranoid easily (though it may be because I'm in a prison in a foreign land), something nobody would like.
I am now in prison for twelve years after all discour and ~~can~~ have been waiting for two years. Though I am not exactly sure of what I'd be doing in twelve years I know that it won't be drugs. For the sake of my family and friends.

I regret every moment and hope to get an early release, that I can right my wrongs. Esp. to my family. I'm sorry to my mother and father. I ask forgiveness in every letter.

That is actually why I am writing you. To help stop the next generation from making the same mistake.
