

Hello Fr. John Witherspoon, I am writing to share my experience on your blog as part of your anti-drug campaign

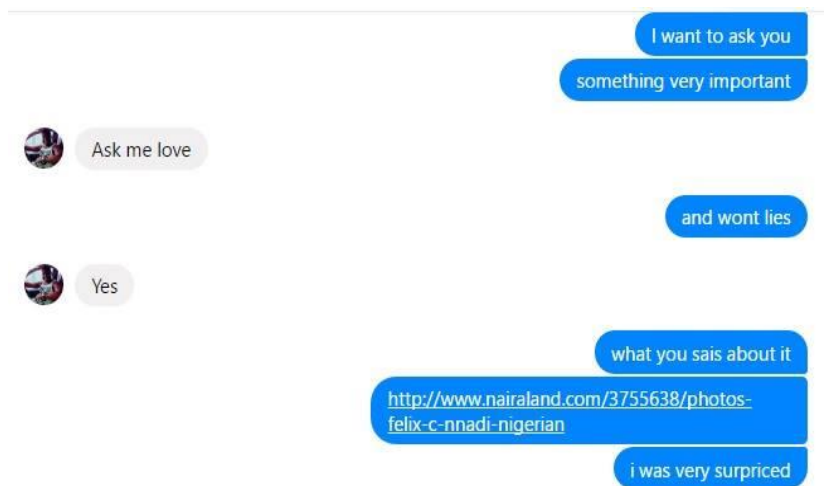

My name is Miss P. I am a woman as there are many in my country who focused on studying, working and being with her family, until today I feel very proud of each of my achievements both personal and professional I would not change anything my life. I have had a life without complications, without needs, without problems and I am very grateful to God for that. I am a loved and respected person for those around me, I enjoy a flawless reputation.

The reason for my letter is to tell you my experience and with this I hope that many people are alert of people who have no feelings and go through life harming people in order to get money and gain power in front of people. Women / men ask all about the people they meet online no matter how many questions they have to ask and even ask other people if they consider it necessary to look more like paranoid and crazy than to go through stormy situations.

This is my story with Mr. Felix Chibuzo Nnadi a Nigerian based in Thailand who claims to be an honest person, who hates lies, but he is a lying liar who loves women or offers his sincere friendship, he gains the trust of women and invites them to Thailand...

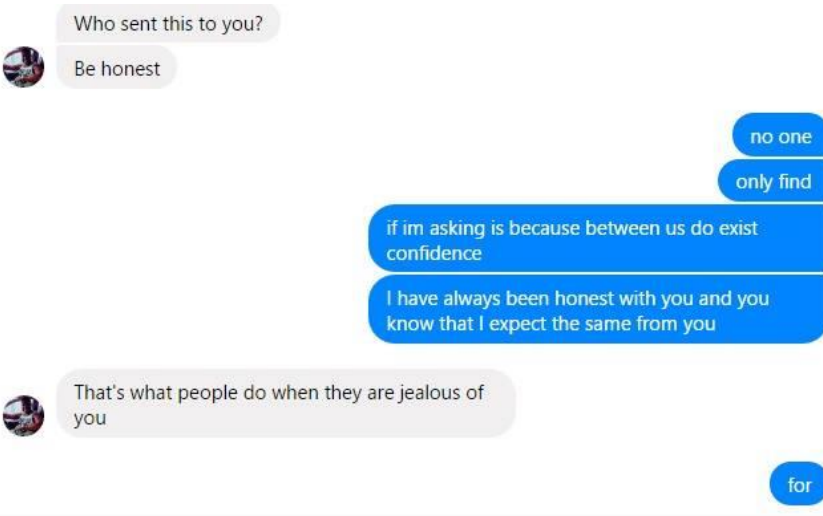

In August 2016 Mr. Félix C Nnadi contacted me via Facebook for a comment I made in a post that I published a friend, I do not really have many friends on Facebook most of my friends are my own family, I admit that I have friends from other countries which have been chatted for years and with whom I have created a true friendship.

Mr. Felix C Nnadi constantly wrote to me whenever his deal was very cordial and respectful, we talked about politics, economy, family, everyday things, business, etc.; until he confessed to being in love with me. Me honestly that both seemed a funny but he insisted over and over again about his feelings for me. On November 29, 2016 we started a relationship almost accidentally because he made a comment to which I answered in an affirmative and Felix assumed that we already had a relationship that I did not give importance because I thought that would end soon, but Felix was a mature man, tender, loving and understanding, so our relationship continued. In December 2016 he wanted me to visit him in Thailand which for me was hasty and a little crazy because of the many stories that are seen daily in the news, so it was not possible. Felix and I began planning again to meet in Thailand and to stay a month together after he would visit my country; this would be in the month of February 2017 but Felix told me that he wanted me to be with him for at least a year to meet us we would be in Thailand and we would go to Nigeria there we would get married and possibly later we would travel to my country to be with my family that plan I do not really like it anymore because I already had plans and commitments that I could not leave or miss. Felix felt a little annoyed but finally understood my situation, again our plans to meet were modified this time we would

I asked Felix about the post of Fr. John Worherspoon

Felix's response to the post
John Worherspoon. <http://www.europehk.com/Russia/letters/2017/index.htm> this link was sent to me by สุริยา ดี วงษ์ I do not know if it's him or her but I'm grateful to see who Felix is.

I really trusted Felix a lot; I always believed every one of his words because I thought he was honest and sincere. But at that moment my doubts began; so I set out to investigate more about his life.

What did Felix tell me about his life?

Name: Félix Chibuzo Nnadi correct

Age: 39 False he is 46 years old

Felix has 3 children with two different women to whom I will name Miss Thai and Miss Australian by their nationalities.

Felix was with Miss Australian for a few years but their relationship ended when she tricked him having sex with a friend only because she saw her friend wearing underwear, for that betrayal term relationship.

Miss Thai could give her life for him, but her father stole $ 10,000 dollars as she did not want to break contact with her parents the relationship ended and Felix allowed her to return home. But he kept doing business with that family, rare case. They rob you but you continue to do business with thieves.

Now I believe that both stories are a lie and I always believed that Felix continued his relationship with Ms. Thai even Miss Thai has always been in his life because Felix paid and continues to pay her family for being with her having children and being able to do "business" in Thailand. As many stories of Thai girls seeking out of poverty accept everything for a better life and money, but it must be an aberrant act of a father to accept that his daughter is with a much older man in exchange for leaving poverty, this is a very common practice in Thailand where foreigners pay families of girls engaged in prostitution or living in small and poor villages. In a country like mine both Felix and the father of Miss Thai would be in jail. As I deduced that the photo is the house of Miss Thai and the commentary of Miss, Australian.

Felix at Miss Thai's house and the message from the Australian Miss. Maybe Miss. Thai is her complice...

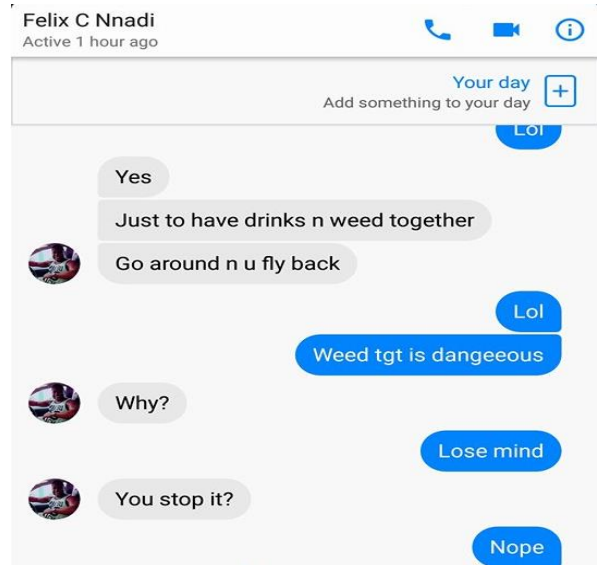

Felix is a very rich and successful businessman, false or at least that the concept of wealth is different in Asia, he is far from being a rich person because a rich person does not live this way. I have only to see how he dresses and broken teeth.

When Felix showed me his house everything looked dirty and in disorder was always the same when we had video calls everything out of place things everywhere and just imagine how it smelled that house felt nauseous. And I came to think that it was because he lived alone but seeing the past photos still living with Ms. Thai all looked the same way I do not know if cleanliness is not an essential part in Asian homes. Women / men video calls are wonderful but when they are finished, any evidence they may have is gone; so it is much better to write to have evidence in case you are with people looking trafficking in all its forms. In my country the police can seize my phone and laptop in this way they can recover any evidence even messages that were already deleted, I guess other countries can do the same.

Felix is not a businessman he is a trader as he does not understand the basic concepts of administration, he lacks school education and business knowledge. Felix is a merchant who is content to make money, but he does not worry about making his business that has an obsolete administration more efficient and competitive.

Sometimes he told me I did not know business because I have not my own business, but I do have university studies and experience in government enterprises and national and international enterprises.

Felix talking about drug use with an Asian woman

After seeing the post of Fr. John and seeing the conversations that Felix held with other women without a doubt I take for granted that his post is real since these evidences confirm it Felix not only can be a drug dealer but also is an addicted to the drug user.

Women / men pay attention to any detail. Today I want to say THANK YOU Felix C Nnadi because you gave me all the information to investigate about yourself and your life without that information maybe I would have ended up like many women in jail, although honestly I think you had other plans for me but thank God nothing happened that I hoped and one day you told me that was what you expected of me. I know you were looking for me because I am a woman who cleans the house, cares for a family, looks after her personal appearance and I am an educated woman who can do business at a much higher level than you are accustomed to do.

Felix talking about the problems he had for the message that I sent to Miss Thai

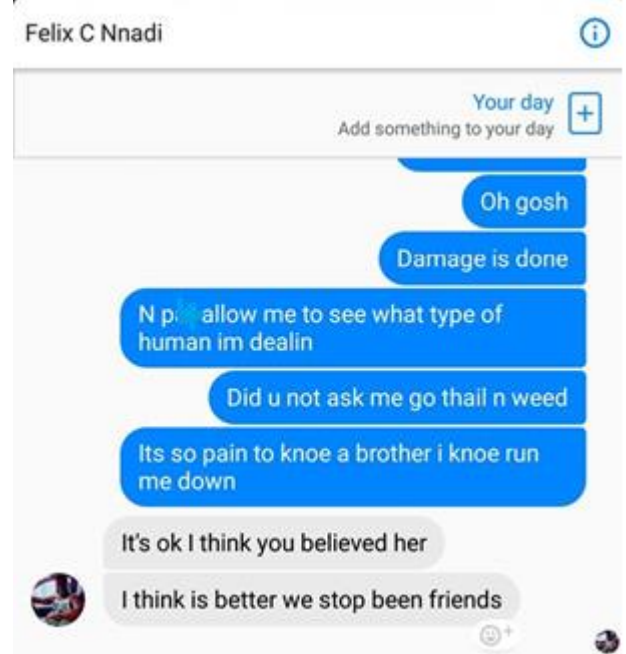

Maybe the people you met before did not pay attention to details or maybe you're looking for people with little education who are dazzled by money and false promises to have things they've never had. Unfortunately that is not my case I went very far because I was not going to leave my family, my country, my friends, my things for following a person that I do not know fully. Even as Felix knows I wrote to Miss Thai a message that never answered because of fear, complicity, ambition or whatever, only confirms how much she depends on Felix or maybe she wants to apply that Thai law that says that if she discovers an infidelity of her partner can demand an amount of money., it only confirms how much she depends on Felix or maybe she wants to apply that Thai law that says that if she discovers an infidelity of her partner, she can demand an amount of money. I wonder, how far can ambition and lack of self-love come?

Mr. Felix C Nnadi thank you for everything, especially for not being able to meet us. Thank you for cursing and saying that no man will want me. Also let me tell you that I am not a wicked woman much less a liar. I just researched about your life and you were not able to hold your words in front of other people because I did not arrange any conversation and I showed you everything just as you wrote it. Honestly I do not know what kind of person you are but as I already told you I wish you good luck and your ambitions do not end with your life. God bless you.
